

Gemma Haigh

And as the Grand Dame of East Croydon (nee Balham) leaves the stage centre left a hush descends upon the startled audience.

Then the auditorium erupts with applause from the public, friends and many admirers to mark the leaving of such a marvellous performer who has devoted her life to her art and the affection of her immediate and devastated friends left behind.