Belle Clark

We didn't choose Belle, she chose us!
She lived two doors away but used to visit all the time.
When her owners split up and asked if we would keep her, we did not hesitate.

She would chat to you while sitting on your lap, just randomly. She was feisty when we got two kittens, but always loving and adoring to us.

Sadly In November 2013 she was diagnosed with a severe liver condition. She was unable to have a biopsy but the outcome would not have mattered as they did not think she could be cured. So we looked after her until the sad time came, which broke our hearts.

She is now in a lovely wooden box with a sleeping cat on top, which still sits in our lounge with us every night. We'll never forget our little Belle.
