Zoe was never far away from my leg when out walking, I remember her bounding beside me if I burst into a run and if I slowed down a little to let her catch me up she would nibble my hand or leg softly.
I loved that she had become confident enough to learn how to play with me. Hydrotherapy helped Zoe tremendously, she trusted me wholeheartedly enough to hold her in the water while she relaxed and floated.

Our holidays together hold some very precious memories, especially our beach visits, her ears flapping in the wind and her undercarriage swinging.  She had a sincere, keen and admirable approach to learning about life, Zoe taught me things daily.

Her kind nature was unbeatable.
