Loulou

Loulou was a beautiful tan and white cocker spaniel.
We got her as a puppy and she enjoyed huge amounts of attention and abundant walks.

When we had our children she became their protector and would often sleep at the top of the stairs guarding us all.
She came camping with us, loved her walks by the sea and in the woods near our home.

Loulou had a bad year in 2016
in terms of her health and endured four operations.
When the cancer came back, it was time to let her go.
We miss her so very much.
