Mr Doogie

Mr Doogie came to us in 2003.
He had been born and raised on a puppy farm,
so came to us in a poor condition.
But with love and care he made a full recovery.
He was an independent boy and was never one to sit on your lap but he had a big character.
He thought he was a rottweiler rather than a shih tzu.
He didn't stand for any nonsense and was the boss.
He became quite frail this last year and we realised he was getting on a bit, but he still loved his little life.
On the 16th September he became quite poorly, so we made the the hardest decision to let him go as he looked like he'd had enough of the struggle.
He was a complete warrior and would always battle on,
but this day he just looked sad.
His passing was very peaceful but even at the end his heart wouldn't stop beating so the vets had to administer more of the drug.
She said at the end he heart was so strong.

He was our little lion.

We love and miss you so much little man.

Sleep tight
