My Darling Peg

2007—2021

You were my teenage years & my twenties. You were pure love. I shall miss you forever. I still think of your twin sister Naboo, & wonder what happened to her - where she went, & if she is still alive. I tend to assume she isn't, but I suppose she could've found a new family somewhere. If that's the case, I hope she is loved and happy. If not, I believe she is at peace. You missed Naboo, and my heart aches for her still, even after all these years. I take comfort in knowing you are with Dusty for sure. You were sisters too, even though not in blood.

You were my dearest friends and my greatest support and comfort. My family. I love you Peg. The guilt I have about making the decision to say goodbye to you when I did is present and may be for the rest of my life.

Oh, how loved you were and always will be.

RIP
